

MARSHALL MESSENGER SAT. 6/24/98

Lecture series to focus on Caddo

A lecture series focusing on Caddo Lake will take place in Marshall from Jan. through May.

Admission is free to all programs, which will feature a talk followed by informal discussions. Topics and invited speakers include the following:

Jan. 25 - Civic Center lobby, 3 p.m. - Jacques Bagur, Caddo Lake Historian, "The Origins of Caddo Lake"

Feb. 2 - Wiley College Hodge Auditorium, 7 p.m. - Dr. Timothy Perttula, Austin, author, Caddo Nation, "Caddo Lake Archaeology"

Feb. 22 - Civic Center lobby, 3 p.m. - Mike Ryan, Regional Fisheries Manager, Texas Parks and Wildlife, "The Fish Story at the Lake"

March 15 - Civic Center lobby, 3 p.m. - Doug Hine, Longview biologist, "Flora at the Lake"

March 22 - Civic Center lobby, 3

p.m. - Dwight Shellman, president, Caddo Lake Institute, "Ramsar and the Caddo Lake Institute"

April 5 - Carl Frentress, Athens, Texas Parks and Wildlife regional biologist, "Waterfowl at Caddo Lake"

April 13 - Wiley College Auditorium, 7 p.m. - Dr. James Ingold, ornithologist, LSU Shreveport, "Migratory Birds"

May 3 - Wiley College Auditorium, 3 p.m. - Dr. Tai Kreidler, Lubbock, Texas Tech University,

"Caddo Lake, the World's First Off-shore Oil Drilling Program"

May 24 - Civic Center lobby, 3 p.m. - Charles Muller, Longview and Jim Neil, Athens, Texas Parks and Wildlife, "The State Park and Wildlife Management Area, Then, Now and Tomorrow."

The series is sponsored by Harrison County Historical Museum, City of Marshall; Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, The Summerlee Foundation and Caddo Lake Institute.